How philanthropic support helped launch the region's premier Sports Performance Center at New England Baptist Hospital
Recent NEBH Awards and Recognition

---

Guardian of Excellence Award®
For the ninth year in a row, NEBH has been awarded the prestigious Press Ganey Guardian of Excellence Award—the only hospital in New England to receive this honor for nine consecutive years. The national award recognizes exceptional hospitals that sustain the highest level of performance, ranking in the 95th percentile or greater in patient satisfaction for at least three consecutive years.

Top Women-led Businesses
NEBH, led by President and CEO Trish Hannon, was ranked 9th by The Boston Globe Magazine in their annual “Top 100 Women-led Businesses in Massachusetts” list of organizations recognized for an impressive record in innovation and workplace diversity. NEBH was also listed as one of only 18 companies in Massachusetts with a workforce comprised of at least 75 percent women.

CMS (Medicare) Five-Star Hospital for Quality
The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid (CMS) has launched a five-star “Hospital Compare” rating tool to help patients understand and compare quality data. NEBH is the only hospital in Massachusetts to receive the top rating of five stars as an overall rating and also received four stars for patient survey results.

U.S. News & World Report Ranks NEBH Nationally for Orthopedics
Our hospital continues to be honored as a nationally recognized hospital for high-quality orthopedic care by U.S. News & World Report in 2016–2017. NEBH also received the highest rating of “High Performing” for both Knee and Hip Replacement.

Joint Commission’s Top Performer on Key Quality Measures
NEBH has been recognized by the Joint Commission for exceeding national expectations on evidence-based interventions in 2015.

General Electric Selects NEBH as Center of Excellence
General Electric (GE), one of the nation’s largest employers, has selected New England Baptist Hospital as their only Center of Excellence for total hip and knee replacement in New England. GE employees throughout the country can now choose to travel to Boston to undergo their surgery at NEBH, receiving added benefits for travel and waived copays and deductibles.

Dear Friends,

We all know how important it is to get active and stay active throughout our lives—more and more research tells us that exercise and movement are the keys to healthy aging and a high-quality life. At New England Baptist Hospital, we believe that we are all athletes, whether we walk, play basketball, cross country ski, practice yoga, or windsurf.

That’s why we are excited to announce in this issue of Advances that we have raised $1 million in start-up philanthropy to build out a dedicated space for our new Sports Performance Center (SPC) at our Dedham Outpatient Center. The SPC is designed to ensure that all of us athletes, regardless of our ages or expertise, keep moving by improving and optimizing performance, strength, and flexibility, rehabilitating after injury, and preventing injury. At the SPC, we build—and rebuild—athletes.

We are also pleased to present our fiscal year 2016 donor rolls. We raised $5 million in philanthropic support to underwrite the important programs and services that set NEBH apart as the region’s top provider of musculoskeletal care. We are deeply grateful to each of our individual, corporate, and foundation donors for their inspiring commitment to New England Baptist and our patients. We are energized by the opportunities that lie ahead—including the announcement of our very first Boston Marathon team—and we hope you are, too.

Please enjoy this issue of our newsletter. And thank you for all you do for New England Baptist Hospital.

Sincerely,

Morgan Herman
Vice President, Philanthropy

Moving Gestures

Moving Gestures is a program that celebrates the Baptist by giving patients, family members, and employees a platform to honor their caregiver or coworker, serve as an ambassador, volunteer, or make a gift. Be part of our success and help to secure our place among the nation’s top musculoskeletal hospitals.

Visit nebh.org/movinggestures for more information and to make a gift today.
“It’s exciting to think that this space will be Greater Boston’s hub for sports performance in a short time,” says John Richmond, MD, long-time NEBH Sports Medicine physician and former Chair of Orthopedics. “We have big plans for this place.”

Dr. Richmond is standing in a vast shell space—nearly 4,000 square feet—at New England Baptist Hospital’s Outpatient Center in Dedham, MA that, over the next year, will be built-out to become the core of the hospital’s new Sports Performance Center (SPC).

Thanks to philanthropic support from lead donors totaling $1 million, NEBH has begun the process of creating a state-of-the-art rehabilitation and athletic training space to serve athletes of all levels from across the region.

The Sports Performance Center was designed around that very idea: that all of us are athletes; that every weekend cyclist, distance walker, high school basketball player, tennis partner, runner, golfer, baseball pitcher, and figure skater—everyone who loves to move—needs access to “one-stop-shopping” for their athletic needs. Programming at the SPC will be designed to maximize performance, recover from injury, increase strength and flexibility, evaluate performance, and prevent musculoskeletal issues from arising in the first place.

“This Center will be the best in the region, and we are thrilled that our donor community is as excited as we are about it,” says Morgan Herman, Vice President of Philanthropy at NEBH. “The SPC presents a visionary opportunity for NEBH to harness growing patient demand in Sports Medicine while continuing to focus on producing excellent clinical outcomes and high patient satisfaction.”

Zoe Daboul knows why the SPC is so exciting. A 38 year old mother from Portsmouth, NH, Zoe suffered from chronic pain after a back injury. She completed one of the SPC’s innovative physical therapy programs, which will eventually be housed in the newly built-out space in Dedham, to reduce her pain and increase her mobility.

"After my injury I did a lot of physical therapy that focused on how to avoid hurting myself again—it didn’t do much to relieve my pain. But once I came to the Baptist, they taught me how to increase my flexibility, strength, and range of motion, and gave me the confidence to push through a little bit of the pain and to move the right way," Zoe says. “I learned that I am strong and that my body is more resilient than I thought it was; I ran a half-marathon in November, and thanks to NEBH, I was pain-free—except for sore muscles!"

The Center will feature broad programmatic offerings to help athletes to reach goals, such as increasing a vertical leap or improving a golf swing. Also offered will be a range of services for the high school or college athlete aspiring to “make the team,” the elite athlete seeking to achieve maximum potential, the runner working toward their first marathon, or the active adult hoping to engage in or continue recreational sports and athletic endeavors to stay fit and social. NEBH already began offering SPC clinics over the past summer, with the launch of golf improvement programs.

“We anticipate a great demand among high school and college athletes; we plan to build a performance team to use testing, movement analysis, and counseling to adapt an athlete’s biomechanics, training regimen, and nutrition to give them a competitive edge,” says Dr. Richmond. “The SPC will bring together many of the Baptist’s outstanding Sports Medicine offerings in this expansive new location.”

Over time, the SPC will be fully integrated to leverage NEBH’s expertise and partnerships, including Sports Medicine physicians, certified athletic trainers, physical therapists, sports psychologists, cardiologists, neurologists, pain management specialists, and nutritionists—experts who are up-to-date with current research and training recommendations for a given sport and can identify critical needs—for example, the best protocols for a safe and speedy recovery or to prevent increasingly common overuse injuries in a teen sports standout. NEBH, the Official Hospital of the Boston Celtics for 30 years running, will also capitalize on the experience of the many Sports Medicine specialists who serve as team physicians for the Celtics and other professional, college, and high school sports teams.

“The SPC will not only accommodate a significant regional demand for Sports Medicine patients seeking expert care,” says Trish Hannon, NEBH President and Chief Executive Officer. “It will also further enhance the NEBH brand and establish Dedham, a convenient suburban location, as the Sports Medicine destination.”
Should they need it, the Sports Performance Center will also offer patients the full scope of NEBH-caliber outpatient surgical services at Dedham, with state-of-the-art operating rooms and minimal wait times in addition to the Baptist’s urban Boston location on Mission Hill.

“I can’t wait to see the finished product,” says Dr. Richmond, glancing at the steel beams and high ceilings around him. “This Center is pioneering a new approach—we are going to redefine the way we work with athletes here in New England and beyond.”

If you would like to learn more about the Sports Performance Center at New England Baptist Hospital or to support the build-out of our dedicated space at the Outpatient Care Center in Dedham, please contact Morgan Herman at 617-754-6362 or mherman@nebh.org.

The $1 million in philanthropy from lead donors to the Sports Performance Center—many of whom are grateful patients—has allowed NEBH to begin the build-out of its dedicated space at the Dedham Outpatient Facility. Philanthropic support of strategic areas will further strengthen the SPC and ensure it remains at the leading edge of the field. These key areas of philanthropic investment include:

State-of-the-Art Technology
Donor support will underwrite the purchase of the newest equipment and technologies that help SPC clinicians to evaluate athletes to maximize their performance, identify or assess an injury, or support the physical therapy and training plan to return them to the sports they love.

The Next Generation
Our celebrated Sports Medicine Fellowship Program provides in-depth, hands-on training for two to four fellows per year under the mentorship of our renowned physicians including Drs. Andrew Chapman, Alan Curtis, Andrew Jawa, Brian McKeon, Suzanne Miller, Kai Mithoefer, John Richmond, Glen Ross, Anthony Schena, Mark Slovenkai, Mark Steiner, John Tiemey, and Paul Weitzel, among others. Donor support will allow the program to continue to recruit and train the very best fellows in the field.

Innovative Offerings
Donor support will allow NEBH to capitalize on its Sports Medicine expertise to create new, in-demand clinical programs and services through the SPC, such as our “Return to Golf” program, designed to improve mobility, stability, strength, and endurance often lost after an injury or with chronic pain.

Novel Discoveries
Donor support will advance pioneering Sports Medicine research investigations by NEBH physicians into areas of concern for all athletes; for example, studies comparing the results of shoulder replacement surgery in female and male patients to determine the best result for a patient, or studies that explore risk factors for anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) tears in female athletes.

Highly visible naming opportunities within the SPC are also available, including exclusive naming rights to the Center. Please contact the Office of Philanthropy at 617-754-6880 for more information about any of our strategic priorities.
Spring 2016 Research Roundtable: Innovations in Hip Health

On April 12, 2016, business leaders, friends, and donors to New England Baptist Hospital gathered at Davio’s Cucina in Chestnut Hill for an educational gathering highlighting innovations and research in hip health led by two leading orthopedic surgeons, Geoffrey Van Flandern, MD, and Thomas Wuerz, MD. Opened by NEBH President and CEO Trish Hannon, and Vice Chair of Orthopedic Research Carl Talmo, MD, the event highlighted how NEBH’s collaborative physician-researchers are helping to advance the Baptist’s research program and drive innovation in musculoskeletal health.

Team NEBH Finishes Strong at the 2016 Falmouth Road Race

On August 21, 2016, 18 runners from the New England Baptist Hospital community completed the scenic seven-mile course of the 44th annual New Balance Falmouth Road Race on Cape Cod. The team also raised more than $14,000 to support clinical programs, medical education, research, and other priorities at the hospital. Thank you to our dedicated, hard-working runners and to all who supported our team. If you would like to learn more about joining our 2017 Falmouth team, please contact Sara Doherty at 617-754-6628 or sdoherty@nebh.org.

2016 Rose Society Celebration Recap:
Celebrating the Baptist’s Most Loyal Donors

NEBH’s 2016 Rose Society celebration was held on October 20 at Four Seasons Hotel Boston. The annual gathering celebrates the Baptist’s most generous and enthusiastic supporters, the members of the Rose Society, who have made gifts of $1,000 or more to the Annual Fund. The evening included the presentation of the Kirkby Memorial Service Award for 2016 to James Rainville, MD, Chief of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. Please save the date—Thursday, October 19, 2017—for this year’s celebration and join us by making a gift of $1,000 or more during our fiscal year, which ends September 30, 2017. To learn more, please contact Melanie Saunders in the Office of Philanthropy at 617-754-5661 or msaunders@nebh.org or visit us online at www.NEBH.org.

New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing Reunion

On September 24, NEBH hosted a special 50th Anniversary gathering of members of the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing Class of 1966. Founded in 1896, the school was known for its high standards and produced thousands of graduate nurses before closing in 1997. Its many graduates, including the members of the Class of 1966, have had a significant impact in building NEBH’s long-standing culture of unparalleled care and our current national reputation. Reunion attendees also made generous gifts to the hospital’s Nursing Scholarship Fund, which underwrites the education of the next generation of NEBH’s standout nurses, creating a meaningful legacy that carries on the Baptist’s tradition of nursing excellence. For more information, contact Christine Montilio in the Office of Philanthropy at 617-754-6653 or cmontilio@nebh.org.

Members of the NEBH School of Nursing Class of 1966 gathered for a memorable reunion weekend.

The Sr. Celtics program, presented by New England Baptist Hospital, encourages elderly members of the Mission Hill/Roxbury community to maintain active lifestyles through participation in fitness and health education classes. Throughout the year, Celtics players and legends as well as New England Baptist Hospital staff lead between 80–100 seniors in group workouts and discuss the benefits of physical exercise. On January 26, 2017, more than 80 seniors participated in a dance class led by Celtics Team Dance Director Marina Ortega and Celtics Dancers before learning tips on health and fitness from NEBH’s Margaret McCarthy, RN, and Joanne Petrillo, RN.
Investing in Life-Changing Care through Philanthropy

We are proud to share our donor listings for philanthropic giving to New England Baptist Hospital in fiscal year 2016 (October 1, 2015 – September 30, 2016). The generosity of annual fund supporters, donors of major and planned gifts, corporate sponsors, and foundation grant-makers listed on the following pages helped us to surpass our goal and raise $5 million last year. The infrastructure and capital upgrades, programmatic improvements, research advances, and investments in human capital made possible through philanthropy helped the Baptist accomplish a great deal in 2016, and we are poised to do even more in 2017. Thank you for your support!

The Rose Society

Rose Society members are a special group who share a commitment to securing the hospital’s future success. Unrestricted leadership gifts of $1,000 or more to the NEBH Annual Fund are recognized within the Rose Society and provide essential funds to areas of the hospital where the need is greatest.

NEBH surgeons Suzanne Miller, MD (right) and Alan Curtis, MD (center) with
New England Baptist Hospital’s 2016 Gala was held on Friday, April 29 at the Westin Copley Place Hotel in Boston. The event, which raised nearly $700,000, included special performances by professional dancer and NEBH hip replacement patient Naomi Turner and dance partner Adam Spencer, acrobats from the Boston Circus Guild Troupe, and the Blake Band of New York City. Nearly 70 organizations and individuals sponsored the Gala, and more than 300 guests attended, including Boston Celtics legend Cedric Maxwell. The evening was a celebration of movement and of the NEBH physicians and staff who help our patients live in motion. Thank you to all of our partners and supporters—we hope everyone had a wonderful time!
